Marilù Parisi

Marilù, nice to meet you

BIO

Marilù is a photographer and videographer with a degree in Graphic Design from LABA, Libera Accademia di Belle Arti, in Florence.

After her first experiences as a freelancer between Florence and Milan, she moved permanently to Paris in 2019, working as a content manager for a cosmetics agency and later as a Senior Photographer for a communication agency specializing in the restaurant industry.

Today, she collaborates with communication agencies, museums, and both French and international brands. She covers art and music festivals, creating photo and video reports, produces professional portraits, and designs communication materials for fashion brands.

Managing crews during shoots, overseeing the entire selection process of talents (photographers, videographers, etc.), defining each team member's role, and ensuring the seamless execution of the project from start to finish.
